JinkoSolar Announces 24 MW Solar Module Supply Agreement with Enfinity

July 22, 2010

SHANGHAI, July 21 /PRNewswire-Asia-FirstCall/ -- JinkoSolar Holding Co., Ltd. ("JinkoSolar" or the "Company") (NYSE:JKS), a fast-growing solar product manufacturer with low-cost operations based in China, today announced that it has entered into an agreement to supply 24 megawatts ("MW") of solar photovoltaic ("PV") modules in 2010 to Enfinity Asia Pacific Limited, 100% owned by Enfinity N.V. ("Enfinity"), a global renewable energy developer. JinkoSolar branded module shipments have already begun and will continue through the end of 2010.

"Our solar module supply agreement with Enfinity is a testament to the quality of our solar modules, devoted service and commitment to customers," said Xiande Li, Chairman of the Board of Directors at JinkoSolar. "Enfinity is one of the world's largest and most experienced solar PV developers with projects in over 20 countries across the globe. We believe Enfinity's exceptional track record with first-rate partners, world-class developments in PV systems and strong presence in Belgium as well as many other countries in Europe will help us to further expand our business and deliver high-quality solar products in key regions."

Gino Van Neer, Enfinity's Asia-Pacific Chief Executive Officer commented, "We are very pleased to have entered into this supply agreement with JinkoSolar as the Company's high-quality modules will be utilized in several of our solar projects in Czech Republic and Belgium. Throughout our history we have focused on delivering commercially viable solar PV systems that offer a solid return on investment to our customers. JinkoSolar's modules offer a cost-effective solution and we look forward to developing a long-term relationship that will enable both companies to capitalize on new opportunities."
